Weather Conditions

Cambodia has typical tropical weather: some periods are very hot, and others extremely wet. November is the dry season, with about a 15% average chance of rain. Though November is one of the cooler months in Cambodia, it remains hot with average temperature highs reaching 86 degrees Fahrenheit and lows of around 75 degrees Fahrenheit in Siem Reap. Phnom Penh will always be a few degrees hotter due to the urban heating effect.

Please consider taking some preventative measures against heat and sun exposure such as wearing long, breathable protective clothing and hats and actively hydrating throughout your time in Cambodia.

Luggage & Packing

We recommend packing any medications you take, a change of clothing, and any valuables in your carry-on bag in case your checked bag is lost or delayed. Be sure to have luggage tags with your contact information on each bag and a TSA-approved lock when possible.

Clothing

During any temple visits (including Angkor Wat) as well as site visits with the grantees, modest clothing should be worn. Plan to cover your shoulders and down to your knees during most days of the trip. On any days when you are in the city and not visiting religious sites, shorts and tank tops may be worn if you prefer.

Due to the heat and red dirt roads, items of clothing are likely to be weathered. It is especially recommended to not wear white or light-colored items of clothing due to the dusty environment.

- Long pants suitable in hot weather
- Shorts as necessary
- Skirts or dresses that fall below the knee
- Light, long-sleeved shirts (preferred over short-sleeve for modesty and to repel mosquitoes)
- Short-sleeved shirts as needed
- Shawl, scarf, or light sweater for sun protection
- A couple of versatile “nice yet casual” outfits
- Comfortable walking shoes
- Sandals and flip-flops
- Small travel umbrella or waterproof jacket/poncho (during the dry season, it is unlikely to rain heavily)
- Sun hat or cap
- Socks and undergarments
- Sleep wear
