Recommended Regional Reserves

Kenya offers fantastic safari experiences, with a multitude of landscapes and habitats. Our Private Travel division would be happy to customize an extension for you in the following recommended regional reserves:

Lewa Conservancy, Laikipia

Lewa Wildlife Conservancy in northern Kenya protects endangered black rhinos, Grevy's zebras, and the Big Five. It holds a significant share of Kenya's rhino population and the world's largest group of Grevy's zebras. Visitors enjoy game drives, walks, horseback or camel safaris, plus cultural encounters amid savannahs and Mount Kenya views.

Loisaba Conservancy, Laikipia

Loisaba Conservancy in Laikipia spans 58,000 acres, protecting endangered black rhinos and Grevy's zebras. It serves as a vital wildlife corridor while supporting local communities with jobs, schools, and healthcare. Visitors enjoy game drives, walking safaris, camel or horseback rides, and the famous Star Beds. Sweeping savannahs and Mount Kenya views provide a stunning backdrop.

Ol Pejeta Conservancy, Laikipia

Ol Pejeta now holds the largest single population of eastern black rhino in Kenya, and is working with partners to save the northern white rhinos from extinction. This incredible 90,000 acres of prime wildlife habitat and ranching land is now held for the foreseeable future in trust for the Kenyan people.

MAASAI MARA AND AMBOSELI

Maasai Mara

In Southwestern Kenya, the Maasai Mara Reserve is home to wildebeest, zebras, abundant elephant, buffalo, giraffe, lion, cheetah, and antelopes—including every animal in the famous Big Five. It is also home to the Maasai community. Optional activities include gliding over the Mara in a hot air balloon.

Amboseli National Park

Amboseli, near the Kenya–Tanzania border, is famed for its vast elephant herds and prolific birdlife with over 600 species. Visitors enjoy dramatic views of Mount Kilimanjaro, Africa’s highest peak, while on game drives spotting giraffes, zebras, cheetahs, and other wildlife.
